

Sioux Chief Hosts Visitors for Plant Tour

KANSAS CITY, MO, September, 2017 -- Sioux Chief Manufacturing recently hosted a group of plumbing contractors and wholesalers from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware for a tour of the manufacturing plant and new headquarters in Kansas City.

The day before the tour, members of the Sioux Chief team tailgated with the visitors before the Kansas City Chiefs football game, where the Chiefs hosted the Philadelphia Eagles at Arrowhead Stadium. The next morning, the group toured Sioux Chief's new Kansas City facility where several manufacturing departments, along with the warehouse and distribution, are currently operating. The visitors spent the rest of the day in Peculiar, where after lunch they toured the manufacturing plant and participated in a round-table discussion.

"It's clear Sioux Chief is dedicated to making quality, innovative products that make a better and more productive installation," said T.J. Newbauer from Allied Mechanical & Electrical in State College, Pennsylvania. "We look forward to growing our relationship for years to come."

Another visitor, Tyler Smith from Rodney B. Smith Plumbing Heating & Cooling of Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, was impressed by some of the production cells on the tour. "It was awesome to see innovative products come to life," Smith said. "I enjoyed seeing where the products I install every day originate."
